PART 3 (5 marks)

Read the text and answer the questions.

The library is a wonderful place full of books and knowledge. It is a quiet place where people go to read, study, and learn new things. Libraries have many types of books, including fiction, non-fiction, and reference books.

Many libraries also offer other services. They have computers with internet access, magazines, and newspapers. Some libraries have special areas for children with storybooks and toys. Libraries often host events like book readings, study groups, and art classes.

To borrow books from the library, you need a library card. It is easy to get one; you just need to fill out a form and show some ID. With a library card, you can take books home for a few weeks. If you need more time, you can usually renew the book online or at the library.

Libraries are important because they give everyone a chance to learn and enjoy reading. They are free to use and open to everyone in the community. Next time you want to read a book or learn something new, visit your local library.

Set 2

On average, a person needs around eight hours of sleep per day. For children below 12, they need around nine to twelve hours of sleep per day. Having enough sleep can help a person stay at a healthy weight and reduce serious health problems such as diabetes and heart disease. This is because enough sleep can strengthen a person's heart and improve their overall health.

In addition, sleep can significantly improve our memory and cognitive functions. This is because our brain processes and consolidates information while we sleep. With good sleep, our brain can focus better, which helps us perform better at school or work.

Moreover, getting enough sleep can also reduce stress and improve a person's mood. People who sleep well are often more alert and energetic during the day, allowing them to think more clearly and make better decisions. Good sleep habits can also contribute to better mental health and overall well-being.

Lastly, sleep can also enhance our physical health by supporting our immune system. This helps us fight off illnesses and recover faster when we are sick. Therefore, it is important to prioritize sleep as part of a healthy lifestyle.
