Pink for Polar Bear

The next morning, Nanook awoke to find herself covered with snow.

“Oh dear! I must have slept for hours!” she thought.

Then she realised that she was all alone on an iceberg floating out to sea.

“Oh no! My family will never find me now!” she exclaimed.

Nanook floated further and further out to sea. Soon she began to feel very hungry.

She thought for hours about jumping into the sea to catch a fish, but the rough waves frightened her.

Suddenly, Nanook heard a cry above her.

A beautiful plump fish dropped out of the sky at her feet.

Nanook looked up and saw Gullak, the seagull.

“Oh, thank you a million times, Gullak, thank you!” shouted Nanook.

“You’re welcome,” replied Gullak.

Every day, Gullak caught the biggest and best fish for Nanook.

Gullak was a great storyteller as well as a great friend.

Nanook loved to listen to his tales about mermaids, flying fish, singing humpback whales, shipwrecks and many other fantastic things he had seen in his lifetime.
