

Grammar Practice with: Either...or and Neither...nor

Either...or" is used to offer a choice between two options.

Structure:

- Either + noun/verb/adjective + or + noun/verb/adjective

Neither...nor" is used to negate both parts of the statement.

Structure:

- Neither + noun/verb/adjective + nor + noun/verb/adjective

A: The sentences with "either...or" and "neither...nor".

1. She wants to buy _____ a laptop _____ a tablet for her studies.
2. _____ John _____ Sarah could attend the meeting yesterday.
3. You can _____ have coffee _____ tea with your breakfast.
4. _____ the manager _____ his assistant was aware of the issue.
5. We can _____ go to the beach _____ visit the museum this weekend.
6. _____ the cake _____ the cookies turned out as expected.
7. You should _____ call him _____ send him an email to get a response.
8. _____ the car _____ the bike is suitable for this rough terrain.
9. The solution requires _____ more time _____ more resources.
10. _____ she _____ her brother wanted to go on the trip.

B: Complete the conversation with either . . . or / neither . . . nor

1. A: Is her name Marla, or is it Marlene?
B: It's _____. It's Marilyn.
2. A: I'd like to have the house painted and a new carpet put in.
B: We can't afford both. We _____.
3. A: I'm not going to pay for this.
B: _____. I'll call the police.
4. A: Miranda doesn't know how to solve the problem, and her assistant doesn't either.
B: _____.