Seeing the world

Every month or so,
when my brother and I
are bored with backyard games and television, Dad says
'It's time to see the world.'
So we climb the ladder to our attic, push the window open,
and carefully, carefully,
scramble onto the roof.
We hang on tight as we scale the heights to the very top.
We sit with our backs to the chimney and see the world.
The birds flying
 below us.
The trees swaying in the wind
 below us.
Our cubbyhouse, metres
 below us.
The distant city
 below us.
And then Dad, my brother and I lie back look up and watch
the clouds and sky
and dream
we're flying
we're flying.
In summer
with the sun and a gentle breeze and not a sound anywhere I'm sure I never want to land.

Steven Herrick
