> VOLUNTEER

Several of our runners are coming from out of town. A couple of days before the race, we need volunteers to meet them at the airport or the train station and tell them which buses or trains to take to get to their hotels. These volunteers will also give runners race information, schedules, and directions to the race's starting line. On race day, volunteers will stand on the race route and hand out water to all of the runners. Volunteers should have a lot of energy, enjoy meeting new people, and know how to get around the city.
