

WRITING TEST B2

Write down an essay about a contrast between ancient education and modern education. You must base your ideas on the following passage. Your writing must contain between 150 to 200 words

Ancient education often revolved around rote memorization, philosophical discourse, and the training of elite classes, focusing on classical texts, rhetoric, and physical discipline. It was usually delivered in small, often intimate settings, and the emphasis was on developing virtues, critical thinking, and the transmission of cultural heritage.

Modern education, on the other hand, is characterized by a more structured and standardized approach, with a focus on scientific inquiry, technology, and a broader, more inclusive curriculum. It aims to equip students with practical skills for a diverse range of careers and often emphasizes critical thinking, creativity, and adaptability. The scale of modern education systems allows for mass education, though it sometimes struggles with personalization and the diverse needs of individual students.
