

Living forever.

Read the dialogue:

John and Sarah are talking about immortality and its possible consequences.

John: Have you ever thought about what would happen if people could live forever?

Sarah: Oh, all the time! I think it would completely change the way we live. Imagine not having to worry about time.

John: True, but wouldn't that make life feel... less meaningful? People might stop appreciating the little things.

Sarah: Maybe, but think about the opportunities. You could learn every skill, travel to every corner of the world.

John: That's true. But wouldn't it also be overwhelming? What if you get tired of living?

Sarah: I guess that's possible. But I'd rather have the choice than not! What about you? Would you want to live forever?

John: I'm not sure. I think it would be nice for a while, but eventually, you'd have seen everything, done everything. It might get boring!

Sarah: Maybe, but then again, life is what you make of it.
