

Grammar UNIT 2

OVERVIEW

1 FORM OF THE PASSIVE

We form the passive using be in an appropriate tense or form + the past participle of a transitive verb:

A small sum of money was stolen from the cash box.

They ought to have been punished more severely.

Having been beaten in the semi-final, she flew home the next day

- In spoken English, we sometimes use get instead of be in the passive:
They got told off for making so much noise.
- However, get + -ed is more common with an active meaning similar to 'become' in phrases like get dressed, get married, etc. (See Section 3.2).

2 REASONS FOR USING THE PASSIVE

In English, the topic or subject matter is commonly at the beginning of the sentence, and new information about the subject is normally at the end.

- In an active sentence, the 'agent' (the person or thing that performs the action) usually comes first and is the subject of the sentence:

Subject (Agent)	Action	Result
the first goal	was scored	by Olympiakos.

This passive sentence is principally about the goal.

We choose between active and passive because of the topic we are talking about, especially when reporting information. An English newspaper, assuming its readers are interested in the England football team, makes the England team the topic. It is likely to report:

England have been beaten by Germany in a penalty shoot-out.

A German newspaper, more interested in their own national team, is likely to report:

Germany has beaten England in a penalty shoot-out.

Other reasons for using the passive include:

- the agent is unknown or obvious (see also Section 1):
I was born in 1982.
Coffee will be made available after the meal.
- The agent is 'people or things in general'.
Some verbs cannot be used in the Continuous.

- the agent is a long phrase:
Helen was surprised by all the messages of sympathy that she received.
- avoiding references to ourselves and making a statement impersonal:

We can't possibly complete this work overnight.

becomes: This work can't possibly be completed overnight.

(= the work is the problem, not us)

- avoiding 'you' in orders and rules:
You must give in your application before the end of the week. becomes: All applications must be given in before the end of the week.
- in factual writing when the focus is usually on events, achievements, etc. rather than agents:
Vaccination had been pioneered two hundred years earlier.

WATCH OUT!

- Not all be + -ed forms are passive, They may be adjectives:
I was worried we would be late because of the traffic.
- We avoid passive constructions with be being or been being, although they sometimes occur in spoken English:
Avoid: ~~The road will have been being repaired for months.~~
✓ They will have been repairing the road for months.
or: The road will have been under repair for months.

"Doing ordinary things in an extraordinary way"

SECTION 1

Agents and objects with the passive

1 THE AGENT

Not mentioning the agent

In most passive sentences we have no interest in who or what performs the action. We are interested in the action itself, who or what is affected by the action, or What is the result of it (see Overview). In fact, only about 20% of passive sentences mention the agent:

That window has been broken again!

Mentioning the agent

We mention the agent when we think the information is important, especially if we want to say more about it, for example with a relative clause:

I remember being taken to the fair by my father, who rarely showed any interest in such things.
The survivors were picked out of the water by a cruise liner which had heard their distress call.

- The agent is usually introduced with by (See Section 6.3 for prepositions after passives).

2 VERBS WITH TWO OBJECTS

Verbs that have two objects (usually a person and a thing) in the active usually have two passive forms because either of the objects can become the new subject:

They gave the award to an unknown actress.
(= active)

The award was given to an unknown actress.
(= passive)

An unknown actress was given the award.
(= passive)

- ✓ We usually add a preposition before the personal object. The preposition is usually to, but we sometimes use for.
A note was handed to the minister.
A slice of cake was cut for him.

- However, some verbs, e.g. allow, ask, cause, forgive, deny, don't normally take a preposition before the personal object:

Permission was refused him.

3 VERBS WITH LIMITED USE IN THE PASSIVE

We can't use some verbs as freely in the passive as others.

- We can't use intransitive verbs in the passive because they don't have an object that can be changed into the subject:

~~The Tasmanian tiger was died out early this century.~~

The Tasmanian tiger died out early this century.

- Some verbs, e.g. suggest and explain, can't change the indirect object to subject:

~~He was explained the procedure.~~

~~We were suggested a new time.~~

The procedure was explained to him.

A new time was suggested for us.

- Some verb phrases with two objects can't passive at all:

I bear him no ill will.

The book earned him a fortune.

Let me wish you luck.

- Some verbs are followed by two nouns, but the second is not really an object. We can see this if it is replaced by an adjective:

They declared him President.

He was declared President.

The doctor declared him dead.

He was declared dead.

? CHECK

I went back to the hotel, still _____ (12) followed by the two policemen, and felt very depressed.

SECTION 2

Infinitives and -ing form passives

1. INFINITIVES AFTER CERTAIN VERBS

Make, see, hear, and help have different patterns in the active and the passive. In the active, the verb is followed by object + infinitive without to. In the passive, we use a to-infinitive:

Active

I heard him shout at his brother.
They've made him promise not to come before six.

Passive

He was heard to shout at his brother.
He's been made to promise not to come before six.

WATCH OUT!

Let vs. allow

We can't use let in the passive when it is followed by a verb phrase. We use allow:

My parents let me do what I wanted. (= active)
~~I was let to do what I wanted.~~

I was allowed to do what I wanted.

• But we can use let in the passive in phrases like:

The dog was let loose. I was badly let down.

2. PASSIVE INFINITIVES

We form the passive infinitive of verbs by putting to be (sometimes to get) in front of the past participle:

Active

There's so much to do.
I've got to write this essay before Friday.
If I'm going to do it by then, I'd better get a move on.

Passive

There's so much to be done.
This essay has got to be written before Friday.
If it's going to be done by then, I'd better get a move on.

• We use Perfect passive infinitives to emphasise that something is or isn't completed (See also Unit 1, Section 2 Watch out!):

My new car was to have been delivered today but there was a problem with the paintwork.

Active or passive infinitive?

• If the subject is the agent, the sentence is active and we use an active infinitive:

I've got so many library books to return.

• If the subject is not the agent, we use a passive infinitive:
All systems are to be checked as soon as possible.

• We can use some active and passive infinitives with the same meaning, especially after There:

There are so many rooms to paint / to be painted.

• But, with something, anything and nothing + to do there can be a change in meaning:

There's nothing to do in the evenings. (= we're bored) I'm sorry, there's nothing to be done. (= there's no action anyone can take)

3. REPORT VERBS

We often use report verbs, e.g. claim, mention, request, point out, with impersonal passive constructions.

There are three main patterns:

It's thought by the press that the chairman earns too much.
The chairman is thought by the press to earn too much. There are thought to be disagreements among senior ministers.

• We often introduce a statement with They say, think, believe, etc. or It is said... / One knows..., etc meaning 'People generally think, believe, etc...':

It's thought that carrots improve eyesight, (=Carrots are believed to improve eyesight.)

4. PASSIVE -ING FORMS

We use passive -ing forms (being + -ed) and Perfect passive -ing forms (having been + -ed):

• after verbs that are normally followed by -ing forms (see Unit 15):

I love being given flowers. She recalled having been taken there when she was young.

• as participles, usually with the meaning of 'because' (see Unit 6, Section 1):

Being paid monthly, I find annual bills hard to pay.

Having been stung by bees, she has no love of insects.

• as the subject of a sentence:

Being proved wrong is never a comfortable experience.

"Doing ordinary things in an extraordinary way"

SECTION 3

Structures with get and have

1. CAUSATIVES

We can use get and have in both active and passive patterns.

• The active pattern, meaning 'cause or order someone to do something', is get + person + to-infinitive, or have + person + infinitive without to:

I'll get the waiter to bring you the menu.

I'll have the waiter bring you the menu.

Note that have is much more common in American English; get is common in spoken British English.

• The passive pattern, meaning 'arrange for somebody else to do something', is get / have + object + past participle:

I'll have/get the menu brought to you.

I had to get / have my jacket cleaned after the party.

I must go an get / have my photo taken for my new passport.

I'll get / have those copies made for you immediately.

She's getting / having her teeth fixed.

2. GET + -ED. ACTIVE AND PASSIVE

We can sometimes use get instead of be in the passive. This is usually informal:

They got punished by the Principal for making so much noise.
Lucky Paul got promoted/ elected / chosen / appointed yesterday.

Poor Vassili - his dog got run over last night.

• Get meaning 'become' is also common with a particular small group of past participles:

get dressed - get married - get used to - get stuck - get lost - get caught - get burned - get involved

• The meaning of these phrases can be active:

I got dressed as quickly as I could.

• We can use some of these active phrases with an object:

I have to get the children dressed early every morning.

Don't get your family involved in the business.

3. THINGS THAT HAPPEN TO YOU

We use have + object + past participle to describe things that happen to us, often misfortunes. The subject is the person who experiences what happened:

I've had my car stolen. (Compare: My car was stolen.)

He's had his application for citizenship turned down.

(Compare: His application for citizenship has been turned down.)

My mother's had her letter published in The Times. (Compare: My mother's letter has been published in The Times.)

• In spoken English we can sometimes use get instead of have:
She's got another letter published in The Times.

• Note that sometimes only the context will identify precise meaning. Consider:

They had their fence pulled down. (= either: they employed somebody to pull it down (causative); or it was pulled down without their planning it, e.g. by vandals.)

? CHECK

Of course, you hear about people who _____ (8) _____ (9) their properties vandalised and others whose most prized possessions _____ (10) _____ (11) taken, but it's a terrible shock when it happens to you, when you know that your home _____ (12) _____ (13) invaded, and that you _____ (14) _____ (15) your most intimate belongings handled and examined by strangers.

SECTION 4

Not using the passive: transitive to Intransitive

1. CHANGING THE SUBJECT WITHOUT USING THE PASSIVE

With some transitive verbs we can change the subject of a sentence without using the passive. We don't mention or even imply an agent. Verbs that allow us to change the subject to 'the thing affected by the action' without using the passive are called 'ergative' verbs. By changing the subject of the sentence in this way, the active transitive verb becomes intransitive:

"The dog opened the door. (active) The door was opened by the dog. (= passive) The door opened. (ergative — as if the door opened by itself)

- Here are more examples of ergative verbs:
The whistle blew. That jumper does up at the neck.
The car crashed into a post. The soup thickened.

2. MEANINGS OF THESE VERBS

Describing Change

Most verbs that we can use in this way describe change of some kind:

Transitive

This book will change your life.
The sun had dried their clothes by the time they got home.
She broke her pencil because she was pressing too hard.

Non-passive intransitive

His life changed completely when he moved to Denmark.
Their clothes had dried by the time they got home.
Her pencil broke because she was pressing too hard.

- Other examples include:
begin - vary - decrease - expand - increase - open - close - finish - fade - stretch - crack - smash

WATCH OUT!

We can't use all verbs describing change in this way. For example, destroy and demolish must stay transitive:

The old building ~~demolished~~.
They demolished the old building. The Old building was demolished.

Describing movement

Other verbs that we can use in this way describe movement of some kind:

Transitive

He reversed the car into the garage.
The pilot landed the plane on only one engine.
He moved his chair closer to hers.

Non-passive intransitive

A car reversed round the corner.
The plane landed on time.
That new restaurant has moved.

- Other examples include:
turn - stop - shake - spin - sail - tip - shift - bounce

Cooking

Another group of verbs that we can use in this way relate to cooking:

Transitive

Dissolve the mixture in a little water
Simmer the stock for an hour.

Non-passive intransitive

Stir until the sugar has dissolved.
After the stock has simmered for an hour, add seasoning.

- Other examples include:
bake - boil - cook - fry - melt - toast - thicken - burn - heat up - cool down - warm - brown - freeze - thaw
