As she was going through the, she with a wolf. He asked her where she was going.

"I am going to see my grandmother."

"Does she live far off?" said the wolf.

"It is beyond that mill you see there".

It was not long before the wolf at the old woman's house. He..... at the door. Tap, tap, tap.

"Who's there?"

"Your grandchild, Little Red Riding Hood," replied the wolf, faking her voice.

The good called out, "Pull the string, and the latch will go up."

The wolf pulled the string and the door, and then he immediately fell upon the good woman and her up in a moment.

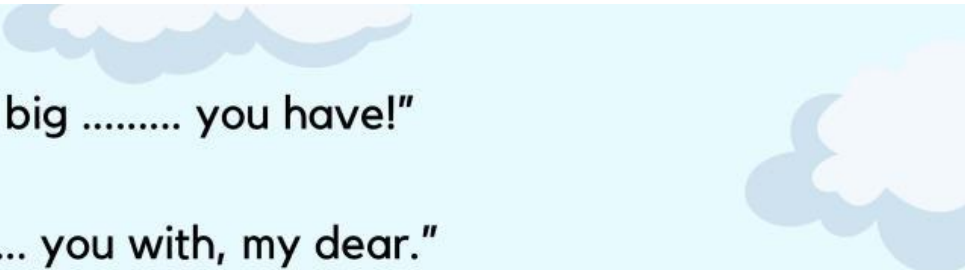

He then the door and got into the grandmother's bed, Little Red Riding Hood, who some time afterwards and knocked at the door. Tap, tap, tap.

"Who's there?"

"It is your grandchild, Little Red Riding Hood."

The wolf cried out, "Pull the string, and the latch will go up."

Little Red Riding Hood the string, and the door opened

"Grandmother, what big you have!"

"All the better to you with, my dear."

"Grandmother, what big you have!"

"All the better to you with, my child."

"Grandmother, what big you have!"

"All the better to you with, my child."

"Grandmother, what big you have got!"

"All the better you up with."

Fortunately, a hunter was passing near by the He heard the wolf, and him right away. He ran over to the window. He took a good aim, and that was the end of the wolf

Match Section

The sentences on the left box are part of a story about Fox and Cat. Match the sentences to their generic structure in the right box by drawing a line!

"Why, I know at least a hundred tricks to get away from our mutual enemies, the dogs," she said.

"I know only one trick to get away from dogs," said the cat. "You should teach me some of yours!"

"Well, maybe someday, when I have the time, I may teach you a few of the simpler ones", replied the fox airily.

Just then they heard the barking of a pack of dogs in the distance. The barking grew louder and louder-the dogs were coming in their direction! At once the cat ran to the nearest tree and climbed into its branches, well out of reach of any dog. "This is the trick I told you about, the only one I know", said the cat. "Which one of your hundred tricks are you going to use?"

One day, a cat and a fox were having a conversation. The fox, who was a conceited creature, boasted how clever she was.

The fox sat silently under the tree, wondering which trick she should use. Before she could make up her mind, the dogs arrived. They fell upon the fox and tore her to pieces.
