1. Those tentacles look beautiful but are actually poisonous! And yet, clownfish live inside these, as we saw in finding Nemo.
2. This citizen of the oceans has a signature shape and a defining feature of a spiny exoskeleton.
3. Is that the long last sibling of an octopus ? Some of these can be as large as a cruise ship!
4. Lots and lots of holes and pores in this one. All that's missing are some square pants.
5. Another one that look pretty but is quite dangerous. It sounds like something you can eat but its sting can be fatal.
6. How, what a spinny thing that is. It's name comes from the Middle English term for 'hedgehog'.
