EATING IN IZMIR

I'm from Izmir in Turkey and my family loves food. From breakfast to dinner, we always eat fresh food. Breakfast is simple: eggs, cheese, bread and tomatoes. We sometimes eat cooked eggs with Turkish sausage – that's really good. We don't usually have cereal with milk for breakfast like they do in the UK – there are lots of other delicious things to eat!

I have lunch with my husband when he can come home from work; the children have lunch at school. We usually have a light lunch – soup and bread, or rice and chicken. Something easy to get is pide – Turkish pizza; we eat it with salad. And we often have a yoghurt drink called Ayran with our pide or some milk. My favourite pide is cheese with egg on top.

Our main meal is dinner. All the family comes to eat and sometimes we have other family members too – cousins, aunts, uncles. We eat around eight o'clock. We start with cold food – different small dishes made from vegetables. Our main meal is usually meat or fish with rice and salad. Then we have fruit or something sweet.

With all that food, eating dinner can take a long time! But we love chatting and telling each other about our day.

1. They eat a simple breakfast.
2. They usually have cereal for breakfast.
3. She eats lunch at work.
4. Pide is a Turkish pizza.
5. Her favourite pide is with sausage and cheese.
6. The family eats together dinner.
7. As a starter they eat hot food.
8. The main meal is fish or meat.
9. They don't eat dessert.
10. They love talking about their days during dinner.
