

How People Get Around in Different Places

People around the world use different ways to travel from one place to another. Let's learn about how they do it!

In Guatemala, people take red buses or the Transmetro. These buses help them move quickly through busy streets. You can get on a chicken bus. These are colorful buses that people use to go from town to town.

In places near water, people often ride boats or take a ferry to cross lakes or rivers. If you visit these areas, you might also need to get on a boat to see the beautiful sights!

Some people prefer to ride motorcycles or use scooters to move around quickly, especially in crowded cities. These are small and fast!

When traveling long distances, people take planes to fly from one country to another. You need to get on a plane at the airport and fly high in the sky.

In some countries, like Thailand and India, people use small taxis called tuk-tuks. You can take a tuk-tuk for a fun and fast ride!

If you want to go somewhere close, you can ride a bicycle. It's a great way to stay healthy and move around the city!

To get around the city, people also hail yellow cabs or use Uber or Indrive. They help you get to your destination quickly when you don't have your own car.
