

substantial, enthusiastic, raise, document entertainment, enthusiasm, independent, amass, notice, allow, revenue, feature, renowned, annually, significant, adores, quirky, expenses x2

J.K. Rowling is a _____ author known for the Harry Potter series.

My little sister _____ her new puppy and plays with it all day.

My parents _____ me to stay up late on weekends, but not during school nights.

Our school holds a talent show _____ to showcase students' skills.

Movies and video games are popular forms of _____ for kids our age.

My science teacher has a _____ habit of wearing mismatched socks.

The club is trying to _____ funds for a field trip to the museum.

The school newspaper will _____ an article about the science fair winners.

We held a bake sale to cover the _____ for our class party.

The class showed a lot of _____ for the field trip to the zoo.

Despite the difficult test, Sarah performed remarkably well.

Over the years, my dad managed to _____ a large collection of comic books.

My little brother is always _____ about trying new foods.

Studying for an extra hour made a _____ difference in my test scores.

Sarah is very _____ and likes to do her homework without help from others.

Did you _____ the new decorations in the school hallway?

The school trip _____ include food, transportation, and entrance fees.

The scientist decided to _____ every step of her experiment.

The company's efforts to generate _____ and create a thriving work environment have paid off.

The school saw a _____ increase in student enrollment this year.