

Weather & simple past

1. Read the weather report and fill in the blanks with the the simple past of the verb to be.

Good evening! Here's the weather report for yesterday from around the world:

In London, it _____ cloudy and cool, with temperatures around 12°C.

In Cairo, Egypt, it _____ a hot and sunny day, with the temperature reaching 35°C. There _____ a single cloud in the sky!

In New York, it _____ stormy and windy. The temperature dropped to 15°C, and there _____ strong winds throughout the day.

In Tokyo, Japan, it _____ rainy all day, with temperatures around 18°C. The rain caused some flooding in low-lying areas.

Meanwhile, in Moscow, Russia, it _____ snowing, and the temperature _____ freezing cold at -5°C. Roads _____ covered with snow, making transportation difficult.

Finally, in Paris, France, it _____ foggy in the morning, with the temperature around 10°C, but the fog cleared by the afternoon.

That's all for yesterday's weather! Stay tuned for the forecast for the coming week.

2. Match each city with its weather.

|                                                                                               |                                                                                              |                                                                                                 |                                                                                              |                                                                                                 |                                                                                                |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| London | Cairo | New York | Tokyo | Moscow | Paris |
|                                                                                               |                                                                                              |                                                                                                 |                                                                                              |                                                                                                 |                                                                                                |

Weather & simple past

3. Answer the questions with short answers.

| Canada | Chile | Greece | New Zealand | Colombia | Portugal |
|--------|-------|--------|-------------|----------|----------|
|        |       |        |             |          |          |

- a) Was it stormy in Chile yesterday? _____.
- b) Was it sunny in Greece yesterday? _____.
- c) Was it snowing in Canada yesterday? _____.
- d) Was it raining in Colombia yesterday? _____.
- e) Was it sunny in Greece and Portugal yesterday? _____.

3. Rewrite the sentences in the negative form.

- a) It was windy in France last Saturday. _____.
- b) The temperature was warm in New York last week. _____.
- c) It was foggy in China yesterday. _____.
- d) It was cold in Australia two days ago. _____.

4. Correct the mistakes in the sentences.

- a) It were cloudy in London yesterday. _____.
- b) It was hot in Canada last winter. _____.
- c) Were it rainy in Brazil last week? _____.
- d) The temperature were warm in Russia last night. _____.