

A Fun Afternoon

Yesterday, Martha and Carlos were spending the afternoon at the beach. Martha was reading a book, and Carlos was swimming in the ocean. Camilo and Silvana were building a sandcastle together. Cristina and I were walking along the shore, collecting shells. You were sitting under an umbrella, relaxing, and I was watching the waves.

While we were all enjoying our activities, a big wave suddenly came and washed away the sandcastle. Camilo and Silvana were laughing, but Carlos was surprised! Cristina and I were still collecting shells when we saw the wave.

Martha was still reading, not noticing the wave, and you were pointing and laughing at the scene. I was taking a picture of everyone having fun.

By the end of the day, we were all a little tired, but Camilo and Silvana were already planning to build another sandcastle next time.
