Task 2: Read and answer the questionsCrime and the Law

A crime is something someone does that is against the law and can harm other people or society. Laws are created to keep everyone safe and to protect people's rights. If someone breaks the law, they may face a punishment, like paying a fine or going to jail. Some common crimes include theft (stealing), vandalism (damaging property), and assault (hurting someone).

Police officers and detectives work to find criminals and solve crimes. When a crime happens, the police look for clues and ask witnesses questions to learn what happened. If they find enough evidence, they may arrest the person they believe committed the crime.

After an arrest, the case goes to court. In court, a judge listens to both sides – one side saying the person is guilty and the other side saying they are innocent. Sometimes, a group of people called a jury helps decide if the person is guilty or not. If they are found guilty, they get a punishment. Knowing about the law helps people make good choices. Following the law helps make our communities safe places to live.
