

1. What is the main purpose of using time connectives in a recount text?
 - A) To create a sense of mystery and suspense.
 - B) To emphasize the importance of certain events.
 - C) To show the order in which events happened.
 - D) To provide background information about the topic.
2. Which type of recount text explains how to do something, like a science experiment or a recipe?
 - A) Personal recount
 - B) Procedural recount
 - C) Factual recount
 - D) Historical recount
3. According to the text, what is the role of the ending in a recount text?
 - A) To introduce the main characters and setting.
 - B) To provide a detailed description of the event.
 - C) To explain the writer's feelings and what happened next.
 - D) To offer a personal opinion about the event.
4. What is the primary difference between a factual recount and a historical recount?
 - A) Factual recounts focus on present-day events, while historical recounts focus on past events.
 - B) Factual recounts are based on personal experiences, while historical recounts are based on research.
 - C) Factual recounts are written in a formal style, while historical recounts are written in a more informal style.
 - D) Factual recounts can be fictional, while historical recounts must be based on real events.
5. Why is it important to use the past tense when writing a recount text?
 - A) To create a sense of urgency and excitement.
 - B) To make the story more believable and engaging.
 - C) To accurately reflect that the events happened in the past.
 - D) To avoid confusing the reader with different tenses.
6. What is the purpose of using causal connectives like "because" and "so" in a recount text?
 - A) To create a more descriptive and vivid account of the events.
 - B) To emphasize the importance of certain events in the story.
 - C) To show the relationship between events and their causes or effects.
 - D) To provide a personal opinion about the events.
7. According to the text, what is the main purpose of recount texts?
 - A) To entertain the reader with fictional stories.
 - B) To provide instructions for completing a task.

C) To inform the reader about real events and experiences.

D) To express the writer's personal feelings and opinions.

8. Which of the following is NOT a characteristic of a recount text?

A) It is written in chronological order.

B) It includes a clear introduction, body, and conclusion.

C) It uses vivid imagery and descriptive language.

D) It uses the past tense to describe events.

9. What is the main difference between a personal recount and a factual recount?

A) A personal recount is based on real events, while a factual recount is based on imagination.

B) A personal recount tells about something that happened to the writer, while a factual recount focuses on events outside of the writer's personal experience.

C) A personal recount is written in a formal style, while a factual recount is written in a more informal style.

D) A personal recount is always written in the first person, while a factual recount can be written in the first or third person.

10. According to the text, what is the purpose of using causal connectives like "because" and "so" in a recount?

A) To create a more descriptive and vivid account of the events.

B) To emphasize the importance of certain events in the story.

C) To show the relationship between events and their causes or effects.

D) To provide a personal opinion about the events.