VII. Read the following passage and choose the correct answer to each question. (1 p)

The Earth's oceans cover about 70% of the planet. There is an incredible amount of life in the oceans. Most life on Earth exists in the ocean. There are thousands and possibly millions of animal and plant species living in the world's oceans.

The five oceans hold 97% of the Earth's water supply. In the Western Hemisphere there are the Atlantic and the Pacific Oceans. In the Eastern Hemisphere there are the Indian and the Arctic Oceans. The Southern Ocean surrounds Antarctica and the South Pole. These five oceans make up one large "world ocean."

The world ocean provides so much for us. We need oceans to maintain balance on Earth. We need to do our best to take good care of them. There are many big companies that pollute the oceans. They dump garbage and oil in the ocean's water. This kills thousands of animals and makes the water unusable. The world ocean supports our lives. We should support the ocean.

36. The world ocean is made up of _____.

- A. the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans B. the Indian and Atlantic Oceans
C. all five of the oceans on Earth D. the largest ocean on Earth

37. What is the purpose of the third paragraph?

- A. to argue against dumping garbage in the ocean's water.
B. to defend the big companies that pollute the oceans.
C. to discourage the reader from caring about the Earth's oceans.
D. to discuss the importance of protecting oceans.

38. Which of the following conclusions is supported by the passage?

- A. It is unclear how oil spills affect oceans.
B. Many living beings, including humans, depend on oceans.
C. The world ocean is not being threatened by pollution.
D. Enough is being done to protect the world ocean.

39. The word 'maintain' in paragraph 3 most nearly means _____.

- A. keep B. disturb C. pollute D. get rid of

40. What is the passage mainly about?

- A. All the environmental issues facing the earth.
- B. How some oceans are different from others.
- C. The world ocean and how it is important.
