My Interview with Lizzie, an Actor in a Theater Group

Ted: What play are you in right now?

Lizzie: I'm in a play that tells the story of fossil fuels and how a school tries to use renewable energy. It's funny and sad!

Ted: It sounds amazing. How long have you been in this play?

Lizzie: For two months. Each week we show it to a different school.

Ted: When did you start working on the play?

Lizzie: About two years ago. It takes a long time to write the script and make the costumes.

Ted: Have you ever written a play about the environment before?

Lizzie: No, we haven't. This is the first time we've written a play about the environment. But we're planning to write our next play about the environment, too!

Ted: Do the children like your play?

Lizzie: Yes, they do. Teachers and children tell us that they love it!
