The history of ice cream

People in China invented ice cream in 618–97 BCE. They made it with milk and rice.

The Emperor Nero (37–68 CE) made his men bring ice and snow from the mountains. They mixed this with fruit.

The ancient Greeks in 500 CE also ate snow with honey and fruit.

The explorer Marco Polo (1254–1324 CE) saw ice creams in China and took the idea back to Italy.

Ice cream cones were invented by a Syrian man called Ernest Hamwi. The cone celebrated its 100th birthday in 2004.
