Where do the Deadly Hallows come from?
Read the following story and find it out.

A. Read the following passage and answer all the questions.

The Tale of the Three Brothers

Once, three brothers were walking together on a quiet road at night. They reached a dangerous river where anyone trying to cross it could die. The brothers, who were good at magic, used their wands to make a bridge. As they crossed, a hooded figure stopped them—it was Death. He was angry because they escaped him. So, Death pretended to be kind and said he would give a gift to each of them.

The eldest brother, proud and competitive, asked for the strongest wand. Death made the Elder Wand from a tree. The second brother, who wanted to embarrass Death, asked for something to raise the dead. Death gave him the Resurrection Stone. The youngest brother, humble and wise, didn't trust Death. He asked for something to hide him from Death. Death gave him an Invisibility Cloak.

The eldest brother fought someone and won. However, that night, someone killed him and stole the Elder Wand. Death took him. The second brother used the Resurrection Stone to bring back a woman he loved. She wasn't happy and seemed far away. He felt so sad that he took his own life. Death took him too.

The youngest brother hid for many years with the Invisibility Cloak. When he was old and ready to die, he gave the cloak to his son. Then, he greeted Death like a friend and left with him.
