Getting around in Moscow

Moscow is one of the worst cities in the world for driving and drivers sit for more than twenty days a year in ¹ traffic jams in the Russian capital. The ² _____ of the city centre are busiest during the early morning rush hour, which lasts from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m., so many residents leave their cars at home and use ³ _____ instead. The Moscow metro is the most ⁴ _____ way to get around the city because it is quick, cheap and easy to use. Metro entrances are marked with a large red letter 'M' and the ⁵ _____ is cheaper if you buy a ticket for ten or twenty rides. Some of the stations are beautiful, such as Mayakovskaya Station, to the north of the green line. The trains are generally ⁶ _____ and passengers hardly ever have to wait for more than three minutes. However, up to nine million people a day use the metro so it can get very ⁷ _____ when people are travelling to and from work. There are also buses in Moscow, but the metro is much faster – and ⁸ _____ – than the bus.
