LEARNING TO LEARN: REFLECTING ON WHERE YOU'VE BEEN AND WHERE YOU'RE GOING

The Learning to Learn activities in this Workbook are designed to help you to develop independent learning skills and also to assist you in monitoring your progress in English. The tasks below will help you to reflect on how far you've come since the beginning of this Workbook and where you might go as you continue to develop your English.

Journal entries

- Read or listen to your journal entry for the Learning to Learn activity on page 11. Would you answer the questions in the same way now or has anything changed?
- Do you think you've improved in the areas you felt you needed to improve in?
- As you continue your English studies, what are your priorities? Number the skills in order from 1 (most important or needs the most work) to 4 (least important or needs the least attention right now):

Reading _____

Writing _____

Speaking _____

Listening _____

Learning skills

- Which Learning to Learn activities have you found the most interesting or useful?
- Have you used any of them outside of the exercises in the Workbook, in real life?
- Are there areas where you would like to further improve your skills, for example, in test-taking or research? How are you going to do this?
