

SKILL PRACTICE 4 – GRAMMAR FOR TOEIC TEST

Overview

In order to do well on the TOEIC exam, you need to have a strong understanding of English grammar. For simple comprehension and learning, a selection of important grammatical points is introduced in a clear and systematic way.

I. Voice

1. Forming the Passive

A. Active sentence: Subject + Verb + Object

Passive sentence: Subject + Be + Past Participle + Preposition + Object

→ The manager fired John. → John was fired by the manager.

B. Using by + noun

With the passive, we usually use the preposition by + noun if we wish to emphasize who does the action.

→ Ms. Martinez made the reservation. → The reservation was made by Ms. Martinez.

2. Usage of the Passive

A. Causative verbs like make, tell, and ask are followed by a to-infinitive in passive sentences.

- The secretaries were made to work very hard.
- The employees were asked to stop making private phone calls.

B. Perceptual verbs like see, observe, and hear are followed by either a to-infinitive for repeated or habitual actions or an -ing form for an action in progress in passive sentences.

- Some new employees have been seen to eat in the conference room. (habitual)
- Some new employees have been seen eating in the conference room. (action in progress)

C. Phrasal and prepositional verbs that consist of verb + adverb/preposition are treated as one unit when changed into passive.

- No one has looked at this report. → This report has not been looked at (by anyone).
- The officer has taken care of the problem. → The problem has been taken care of (by the officer).

D. Besides by, the prepositions at, with, and in may also be used in passive sentences.

- at: be alarmed at, be surprised at
- with: be pleased with, be satisfied with, be covered with, be (pre)occupied with
- at or with: be delighted at/with, be disgusted at/with
- in: be interested in, be involved in, be covered in, be engaged in
