Solar Energy – Using the Power of the Sun

Solar energy is a(n) 28) source of energy 29) comes from the sun in the form of light or heat. We use a lot of fossil fuels to make electricity such as oil, gas and coal, but we are going to run out of them one day. The sun, however, gives off more energy than people could ever use up.

So, how can we use solar energy to make electricity? We can use special pieces of metal, the solar panels, to collect energy from the sun. We can connect the solar panels to batteries so that we can use the electricity to power our devices. We can often see solar panels on rooftops or in many rows on solar 30)

Solar energy doesn't 31) and we can use it in many different ways.

Flashing traffic signs and lights often work by solar energy. Also, when we cook either at home or while camping, solar cookers offer a(n) 32) method of getting our food ready. So, solar energy is clean, green, and it's helping us build a better future without harming our planet.

B. Read the text about life in the countryside. Choose the correct option (A, B, C or D).

Living in rural areas offers a lifestyle that's very different from life in urban areas. Life away from cities offers a sense of peace and connection to nature. However, living in these locations also comes with challenges.

So why do people choose to live in rural areas? Well, for some, it's simply 'home'. They were born in the area, and they have strong connections because their family and friends live nearby, too. Others move to rural areas from cities because they want to live away from the crowds, noise and pollution of big cities. Still others prefer the countryside because of the lower cost of living. They can get a lot more space for their money in the countryside than they can in the city!

Of course, life isn't perfect in rural areas. There are a lot of challenges that come with this life experience. For one, access to healthcare can be more difficult. You may have to travel further than in urban areas to find a hospital. There are also fewer job opportunities in the countryside than in the city, so finding work could be a challenge. However, in spite of the difficulties, many people who live in rural areas find it to be a very positive experience.

33. How does the article describe life in rural areas compared to urban areas?

- A more crowded
- B more expensive
- C closer to nature
- D more polluted

34. Some people find living in rural areas to be a positive experience because ____.

- A there is more access to healthcare
- B there are fewer job opportunities
- C they have a sense of community
- D of the high cost of living

35. According to the article, what is a reason some people move to rural areas from cities?

- A They want to be closer to hospitals.
- B They prefer the noise and pollution of big cities.
- C They have strong family connections in the city.
- D They want to live away from busy crowds, loud sounds and pollution.

36. What does the word it in the last paragraph refer to?

- A life in urban areas
- B life in the countryside
- C a hospital
- D a life experience

37. What is the best title for the article?

- A Living in rural areas: a unique life experience or a challenge?
- B The challenges of moving to a rural area from an urban area
- C The benefits of life in the countryside
- D City life: why do people choose to live in urban areas?
