Canada Square is the tallest building in London and the sixth tallest building in the European Union. It is a modern steel and glass building that was built by a Canadian company. Canada Square is 235 meters high and has 50 floors, though there is no 13th floor because people think that this number brings bad luck! It is an office building and there are about 9,000 people that work there. It has almost 4,000 windows. You can even see this building from Amersham, which is a town about 45 kilometers away. Canada Square has a flashing red light at the top of the building for aeroplanes to see. The elevators take 40 seconds from the ground floor to the 50th floor. Below the building are two basements and nearby there are two large shopping centers and two tube stations. If you are afraid of taking the lift or just feel like exercising, you can take the stairs to go up. There are 4,388 steps from the bottom to the top. Good luck!
