FROM: Greg Evans
TO: Erin Lee
SUBJECT: Art class
SENT: 11:48 p.m.

Dear Erin,

I'm sorry this email is so late! I never have any free time on Mondays! Yes, let's meet and work on my paper for art class together tomorrow. But when?

I'm really busy tomorrow, too. I work from 6:00 to 11:00. (I'm a server at Copper Café, and the breakfast hours are really crazy!) Then I have a chess club meeting from 12:00 to 1:30. But luckily, I don't have my afternoon class tomorrow. My teacher has a meeting out of town. So let's meet tomorrow at 2:00. Is that OK?

My paper on the Louvre Museum needs a lot of work! There's some great information about the Louvre on the Internet. (You speak French, right? Some of the web pages are in French, and I don't understand them.) There's a computer in Room A-13 at school, and it's quiet there, too – there are usually only a couple of people in there. So let's meet there and find the information. OK?

By the way, can I borrow your notes from class on Friday?

Thanks again for all the help!
