PART 5: Look and read. Answer the questions.

Hi, my name is Tom, and I'm 11 years old. I live in Hanoi, the capital of Vietnam. Hanoi is a lively and exciting city with lots of trees and busy people. There's almost everything you need here: shops, restaurants, and markets. The food is delicious and convenient, although it's more expensive than in many countryside areas.

My house is on Chua Lang Street, near Lang Pagoda. If you want to visit my house, go to Lang Pagoda first. Then, go straight at the traffic light, turn left, and keep going along the street. My house is next to a restaurant.

Last Saturday, something exciting happened. I watched a football match between the Red team and the Blue team. Both teams played very well, and the players were full of energy. One player from the Red team kicked the ball and scored an amazing goal! The Red team cheered and celebrated happily. Although the Blue team tried to play fast, the Red team controlled the game easily and won in the end. It was so much fun to watch!

My friend Steven also lives in Hanoi. He says he likes the friendly people here and the modern facilities. However, there are two things he doesn't like: the crowded streets and the pollution caused by so many buildings and cars. Steven thinks Hanoi is less comfortable than the countryside, but it's more modern and convenient.

Even with its challenges, Hanoi is a wonderful place to live. I love the energy of the city and all the things we can do here.

25. Where does Tom live, and how can you find his house?

26. What happened during the football match, and who won?

27. What are two things Steven dislikes about Hanoi?

28. How does Steven compare living in Hanoi to living in the countryside?

29. What do Tom and Steven both enjoy about Hanoi?
