Exercise 3: Read the text below and answer the questions.

Last weekend, James spent the day tidying up his house. He started by organizing the living room, where he had to put away stacks of magazines that had piled up on the coffee table. After that, he put back the books he had borrowed from the library. While cleaning the attic, James found an old piggy bank he used as a child, which reminded him of the importance of putting by money for future needs. Later, his neighbor called him for help, and he had to put in a couple of hours fixing their broken door handle. When James finally returned home, he put down his tools and decided to relax. However, he had to put up with some loud music coming from the party next door. Exhausted, James turned on the TV, put on his favorite movie, and fell asleep halfway through.

Questions

1. What did James do first in the living room?
2. Where did James put the books after he finished with them?
3. What did the piggy bank remind James of?
4. How much time did James spend helping his neighbor?
5. What noise did James have to tolerate after returning home?
6. What did James do after putting down his tools?
7. How did James try to relax after cleaning the house?
8. What did James do with his favorite movie?
9. Where was the piggy bank found?
10. Why do you think James fell asleep during the movie?
