STUDENTS AND TECHNOLOGY

When my dad was at school, there weren't any computers and the internet didn't exist. He didn't communicate with his friends by email, and he didn't make new friends in chat rooms online.

These days the answer to almost every question is on your computer. How has this influenced the way we study? Firstly, we can find information much more easily than we could in the past. You don't need to search through books and encyclopaedias. You can enter your key words in a search engine and then choose from the many websites which can give you the information you need.

Secondly, there are also websites which give advice and practical help with essays and other homework. Sometimes you have to pay for this, but there are a lot which are free. Some people think this is cheating, but if you write the essay yourself, you won't just copy text. You will also learn.

All in all, I think we're lucky today. Studying is a lot more fun!

Example: The writer's dad had a computer at school. False

- a. The writer's dad used email a lot. _____
- b. Today it's harder to find information. _____
- c. Some homework websites are free. _____
- d. The writer thinks homework websites can help you learn. _____
