As the story goes on, the <sup>(1)</sup> _____ at Mica High School seem to become more accepting of Stargirl's presence. They start to like the <sup>(2)</sup> _____ who leads cheers for their sports teams and brings about a revival of <sup>(3)</sup> _____ spirit. Leo, the story's shy narrator, finds himself attracted to her, and she returns his <sup>(4)</sup> _____. But when Stargirl starts cheering not only for her school's team, but also for the other <sup>(5)</sup> _____ during a game – and the school's sports team starts losing – everyone turns on <sup>(6)</sup> _____.

Stargirl tries to please Leo by going back to her actual <sup>(7)</sup> _____, Susan, and acting normal just like all the other students around her. However, she realises that everyone is turning against her. After a disheartening <sup>(8)</sup> _____ with Leo, Stargirl ends up going to the <sup>(9)</sup> _____ Ocotillo Ball alone. She is the centre of attention in the ball, but as the night goes on she suddenly disappears. Students look for her the next <sup>(10)</sup> _____, but she has disappeared from Mica High.

The book makes readers think about how often they adjust their personality and actions just to please those around them. It proves the <sup>(11)</sup> _____ of being true to yourself, one of the best lessons anyone can learn.
