Vocabulary training
Art and Culture

Decide if the sentence makes sense or not. Choose the correct option: "Makes sense" or "Makes no sense."

1. This oil painting was published three days ago, and I really love it.
2. The art exhibition featured an impressive self-portrait of the artist who painted it.
3. This year, the most popular sculpture won an award for Best Screenplay.
4. Shakespeare's autobiography was just published by J. Rowles.
5. I read an amazing sitcom last night, and the characters were so well-written.
6. I loved the documentary because the plot twists were so unexpected.
7. The director decided to change the cast after the dress rehearsal.
8. The TV channel will broadcast the football match live tomorrow.
9. The concert was sold out, so I was able to get a ticket for Suzy, Ron, and myself.
10. I have just completed painting a landscape on my tablet, and now it needs to dry.
11. It was a dress rehearsal, so everybody was wearing their costumes for the opening night.
12. He learned the lyrics to his favorite song, so now he can play them on his guitar.
13. I saw an interesting advertisement for a new art school in the newspaper.
14. My friends and I are addicted to this series because the characters feel so real.
15. The movie was incredibly boring, and I was glued to the screen the entire time.
16. The audience hated the concert, so they started chanting "Encore!"
17. The newspaper published an obituary honoring a well-known playwright.
18. The scandal involving a famous actor made the national headlines overnight.
19. Before buying the novel, I read the blurb on the back cover to see if it sounded interesting.
20. My grandma still watches her favorite soap opera every afternoon.

English__on_the_go

LIVEWORKSHEETS