

Direction: Give what is being asked on the following questions.

1. This type of curriculum refers to what experts and educational organizations suggest should be taught in schools.
2. This curriculum consists of officially documented plans and syllabi that outline the subjects and topics to be taught.
3. It refers to the actual curriculum delivered by teachers in the classroom, which may differ from the written curriculum.
4. This curriculum includes the resources, materials, and support systems that aid in the teaching process.
5. This curriculum involves the knowledge, skills, and attitudes that students acquire, which may or may not align with what was taught.
6. Which type of curriculum includes standardized tests and other assessments to measure student learning?
7. Which curriculum is not explicitly included in lesson plans but influences students' values and behaviors?
8. Which curriculum is designed by policymakers, education experts, and professional organizations as a guideline for schools?
9. Which type of curriculum ensures that teachers have necessary instructional materials and tools to facilitate learning?
10. Which curriculum refers to the actual implementation of lesson plans and classroom activities?