Emma and Rose

Once upon a time in a lively village there lived two girls named Emma and Rose. Emma was an active girl who liked to climb trees and play football. Rose was known for her rich imagination and she loved reading storybooks.

One sunny afternoon Emma was riding her bicycle. Suddenly she saw the girl who was trying to fly a big colorful kite in the field. It was Rose. Emma became interested and decided to stop and help the girl. "Hi, I'm Emma. Do you need help with your kite?", asked Emma. "Hi, yes, the string of the kite got tangled. By the way, I'm Rose" So, the girls started to untangle the string together. When they finished the work, the kite could fly high. The girls ran across the field with the kite above their heads and had much fun. Emma and Rose laughed, and at that moment they understood that they could become true friends.

From that day on, Emma and Rose played together. Rose's love to fairy tales and Emma's energy helped them to bring stories to life. They invited other children to take part in treasure hunts and sports competition. Once they organized a nature expedition to the woods, where they watched birds and look for beautiful flowers.
