

UNIT 6

Should and have to

We often use should to ask for and give advice and to make suggestions.

- What should I do to be healthier?
- You should exercise every day.
- Should I call her?
- Shouldn't you be there by now?

For affirmative statements, we use should + the base form of a main verb.

For negative statements, we use should not or shouldn't.

Affirmative statements
I/You/He/She/It/We/They	should exercise	every day.
Negative statements
I/You/He/She/It/We/They	should not exercise shouldn't exercise	every day.

We use have to + the base form of a main verb to talk about obligation and rules.

- What kinds of clothes do I have to wear?
- Does he have to pay for the class?
- You have to get in shape.
- She has to get a job.

We use don't have to when something is not necessary.

- We don't have to wear a uniform to school.
- He doesn't have to pay for the class.

1 Complete the sentences with should, shouldn't, have/has to, or don't/doesn't have to.

1. To be healthy, we should sleep seven or eight hours every night.
2. I have a car, so I walk to work. But I still walk for exercise.
3. You drink so much soda every day. It's bad for you.
4. My sister is really busy. She write ten essays before the semester ends.

2 Match the information to make complete sentences.

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1. We have to pay the fees e | a. before we exercise? |
| 2. Should we warm up <input type="text"/> | b. to lose weight. |
| 3. You should get some fresh air <input type="text"/> | c. after a big meal. |
| 4. You shouldn't exercise <input type="text"/> | d. because you've been indoors all day. |
| 5. You don't have to go on a diet <input type="text"/> | e. before we take the class. |
| 6. How much do we have to pay <input type="text"/> | f. to join the gym? |