

5. Read the advice and Find the titles

Water is crucial

Turn over a log

Stay warm

Watch your steps

Be visibleRespect the snakes

Test berries

Never Give up

Don't obsess about food

Heat up rocks

1..... In that kind of terrain, you'd ideally take it from as high a source as possible so it is less polluted, and drink running water rather than still. Boil it first if you can make a fire.

2.because night temperatures in the Blue Mountains are freezing at this time of year - it's winter in the southern hemisphere. People have wrapped themselves in grass inside their clothing, as long as it's dry.

3."You want to get to an area where they can see you, maybe an opening in a forest."

4..... They will generally stay out of your way, but don't make them angry. While not all snakes in Australia are poisonous - and they hibernate in winter - it's best not to take any chances.

BE PREPARED

- Warm clothing, including hat, gloves and waterproofs
 - A whistle will save your voice
 - Means of lighting a fire
 - Map and compass
 - Mobile phone
- Tell people where you're going Source: Cambrian Survival

5.to find edible insects. Bugs are generally safer to eat than plants, but don't take risks with what you eat. Avoid plants that smell of almonds or marzipan, or if the leaves are very glossy.

6..... Circumstances can suddenly become life-threatening if you are immobilised because of a sprained ankle or broken leg, especially if you're on your own.

7.by squeezing some juice on your tongue, Plants are the easiest way to get nutrition, but you need to know which are poisonous. If you're not sick within four hours, it's probably OK.

8....., because it's not as important as staying warm and finding water,. You'll always find something to eat, such as grass, which can be chopped up. ".

9.if you have fire, then bury them in the ground where they will keep warm all night long, providing a cosy place to sleep. A shelter can be made from branches from eucalyptus or gum trees, which can be easily broken.

10. This backpacker must have had an excellent positive attitude.

6. Find the Vocabulary in the text. (it's in the order of the text!!!

Boire de l'eau courante plutôt que de stagnante:.....

La faire bouillir :

faire un feu

s'envelopper dans

respecter les serpents

venimeux

trouver des insectes comestibles

éviter les plantes qui sentent l'amande

une cheville foulée.....;

une jambe cassée.....

Si vous n'êtes pas malade pendant 4 heures

Chauffez des pierres

Enterrez les dans le sols.....

N'abandonne jamais!

-----WRITING ACTIVITIES-----

7. Donne 5 conseils à quelqu'un qui se retrouve perdu et seul dans une forêt australienne.
Comment vas-tu commencer tes phrases?

1.

2.

3.

4.

5.

8. Nous sommes 10 ans plus tard en 2019 et Jamie Neale décide de poser sa candidature à l'émission Survivor. Il raconte ses expériences. Imagine 5 phrases qu'il pourrait dire. Quel temps va tu devoir utiliser?.....

Que dois-je faire avec le verbe?

1.

2.

3.

4.

5.