

2 Listen and read. How can people explore London and New York?

@Dolphins: Hi, everyone! How can people explore cities in your country? Send us some information! 😊

@Squirrels: There are lots of ways to explore London. You can go on a walking tour or rent a bike. There are tourist buses and boats, too. But our favourite way to explore the city is from the air.

@Dolphins: From the air? Do you explore London in a plane or a helicopter?

@Squirrels are live...

No, we don't. We ride on the London Eye. This amazing wheel is 135 metres high and from the top you have fantastic views of the city. Alfie's there now. Look! 😲 @Eagles Hello from New York! There are lots of ways to explore our city, too. We love seeing the city from the water when we go on a boat tour. But our favourite way to explore the city is to walk on the High Line.

@Dolphins: That sounds exciting! What is it?

@Eagles: It's an old train line. It's nine metres above the ground and it goes between the buildings in the city. In the past, there were lots of trains and it was noisy and dirty. But now it's a long park. There are amazing views and there are lots of trees and plants. We were on the High Line on Saturday and it was great. Here's a photo.

@Squirrels: Amazing! Were you tired after your walk?

@Eagles: Yes, we were. The park is more than two kilometres long!
