Reading: Studying Abroad

MELANIE I'm from the US, but I decided to study in the Netherlands. It was a pretty difficult decision because I wasn't sure about moving to another country, and I was worried about the language. But, in fact, it's turned out pretty well so far. It didn't take me long to settle down in my new environment, and I'm really enjoying it now. I signed up for Dutch classes, but the lectures at the university are mostly in English, so that isn't a problem at all. At first, I found it a little difficult to make new friends, but it's OK now. I love trying out new things, especially tasting different types of food and enjoying different cultural experiences. The holidays are coming up, so I'm looking forward to going home and telling my friends and family all about it!

ADRIAN I'm originally from South Africa, and now I'm studying in Canada. I've been here for more than two years now and I love the place. I went through a hard time at first, mainly because I had never experienced such freezing cold winter weather, but I'm enjoying college and I've made a lot of friends here. I couldn't do without the Internet, though. It helps me keep in touch with my friends back home in sunny South Africa!

SARA I signed up for a program in computer science in Los Angeles, in the US. I've been here for seven months and, although it was difficult to get used to a new country at first, I feel more at home here now. I'm looking forward to the end of the semester and traveling around the country a little, as I haven't left this city once since I've been here!
