Exercise 6: READING

Success in Learning

Many students want to achieve good marks in school, but learning is more than just grades. To truly succeed, students need to develop important skills and gain real experience. One way to do this is by taking a course that helps improve their knowledge. Before choosing a course, students should make sure it matches their interests and provides the right qualification for their future.

Studying effectively requires effort. Students should be able to concentrate during lessons, revise their notes, and prepare well before they take an exam. If they make mistakes, they should not be afraid to rub out their errors and try again. Teachers often point out key ideas to help students understand difficult subjects.

To find information, students can look up words in a dictionary or online. If they find something confusing, they should ask questions instead of hesitating. A clever student knows that learning is not just about memorizing facts but about understanding concepts deeply.

Exams are important, but they are not the only way to measure success. In the long term, what matters most is developing a strong mind and a positive attitude toward learning. So, instead of worrying about a single mark, students should focus on making real progress in their studies.
