Indicator at a Glance

The Used Fair Value Gap (Used FVG-IFVG) Indicator is a specialized tool to identify FVG and IFVG zones. Traders can easily detect these areas using this indicator and base their analyses on them.

Moreover, by displaying the consumed portion of these zones, the indicator helps traders conduct a more precise analysis of the market status and price gaps.

FVG Identification and Consumption

In the 30-minute GBP/USD chart, the Used FVG-iFVG indicator su ccessfully identifies and displays FVG zones in green. These areas indicate market imbalance. When the price returns to these areas, it starts to consume the imbalance. If the price fully enters the zone, the FVG rectangle is fully consumed, signaling a shift in market buying and selling pressure.

iFVG Identification and Consumption

5-minute USD/JPY chart

In the 5-minute USD/JPY chart, the Used FVG-iFVG indicator successfully identifies an iFVG zone, initially displayed in green. After breaking this zone, it changes to brown. As the price returns to this area, it continues to consume the imbalance, and eventually, the iFVG rectangle is almost entirely consumed. This behavior signals changes in buying and selling pressure in the market.
