

Sort the following sentences in the order they were said in the video:

"...this is an incredible opportunity to cultivate our culture..."

Legend has it that boys douse girls with buckets of water and spank them with willow branches to raise their chances of getting married.

With plenty of locals taking part in the 100-year-old tradition, generations of girls to come will be having the unique experience of being doused with water in "Wet Monday".

"...this "Wet Monday" is our chance to scape from the 24th century..."

The festivity no only involves dressing up in traditional garb and gathering with family and friends, but also drenching young girls and women with water.