Mrs. Brown's morning

Mrs. Brown is a hairdresser, and she works at a salon in town. She often goes to work by train because she lives in the countryside. But last Wednesday, at the station, the man working there said, "Sorry! There are no trains today! The driver is sick, and there's lots of snow." Mrs. Brown wasn't happy. "Well, I don't want to, but I need to drive to work today," she thought. But driving to the city was very slow because there was lots of snow on the road. When she arrived at her workplace, she didn't know where to put her car because the car park was full. She looked at her watch and started to drive around the busy city. Finally, she decided to drive home again. The children were surprised when they saw their mom's car. "I will be your driver today. Let's go to Lake Park!" she said. The children were very excited, and they had a lot of fun there.
