Liz Hartel: a pioneer in horseback riding therapy

People have known about the positive effects of horse-riding on our health since ancient times, but the first professional therapeutic centres were created in Europe in the late 1960s. From there, the idea spread to North America. However, the person who inspired the modern idea of using horses in therapy was a Danish horse riding champion named Liz Hartel. She fell ill with polio at the age of 23 and, as a result, her legs below the knees were paralysed. She was determined to continue her riding career and she took part in the Olympic Games in 1952. Her silver medal there was the first medal for any woman in the history who competed against men. After she finished her riding career, Liz Hartel travelled a lot to raise money for people ill with polio and promoting the idea of riding as a form of therapy. The Dutch Liz Hartel Foundation was named after her.

Hi everyone,

I'd like to share my experience of African dance. About a year ago my friend, Liz, suggested I should go with her to an African dance class. I'd always been quite overweight and shy and although I'd tried some diet pills and joining a gym, nothing seemed to work. At first I wasn't keen on the idea of joining an African dance group, but Liz didn't give up and in the end I agreed. Now, African dance is quite an injury-free activity because you keep your feet in line with the knees, which protects them and your back from too much strain. Also, you put your feet flat on the floor, so your ankles aren't in danger, either. It turned out just the right thing for me! Since I joined about half a year ago, I've lost quite a few kilos, and my confidence has improved, too!
