Last years I went to a dance party. It was my first dance. I saw a guy that I had a crush on there. And than it was time to dance. To get his attention, I danced on stage with some of my friends and other people. I was so busy dancing and didn't pay attention to anything else so I didn't realize that I got too close to the edge of the stage. Suddenly, I tripped and fell off the stage. The music stopped for a while and everyone laughed, including that guy. I felt so stupid, It was a dance that I will never forget.

“ We have no more room for your books, Tasya,” mum said one day. “ there are so many” she added.

So I tried to think of a good way to solve the problem. I loved my books so much, but they were too many now. Then my friend, Salma, gave me the idea of donating the books to the needy. I agreed with her suggestion. Mum wrote about the idea on her facebook page.

Surprisingly, there were many responses from her friends, but we decided to choose the responses from a friend in Rowosari village. His name was Jojo. So I choose about 50 books to the packed. Mum and Salma helped me. Then, Mum sent the package to the address in Rowosari. A month after that, Jojo posted several photos of his library on Facebook. The new library was in this garage. Jojo was so grateful for our help. I was so happy, too , to see the photos of some groups of kind reading my books in the new library.

Dimas : Hi Laily, what's going on ?

Laily : oh hi. Dimas, Hi,Fandi. I'm well, thanks, where have you two been ?

Dimas: Around. We saw you sitting by yourself, looking at your phone so seriously.

Fandi : what were you looking ? was it something interesting ?

Laily : I just watched a Youtube video about plastic in the oceans.

Fandi : how much plastic was there in the ocean ?

Fandi : how did it happen ?

Laily : oh, it said people used a lot of plastic and didn't really reuse or recycle it.

Dimas: Also, a lot of people litter.

Laily : True in the end the plastic trash found its way to the oceans. It's bad for the oceans and the animal there

Fandi : what did the plastic trash do to the sea animal ?

Laily : many sea animals like dolphins or sea lions ate the plastic or became entangled in plastic

Fandi : it just made me remember about a team of scientist rescuing a sea turtle

Laily : What happened to the sea Turtle ?

Fandi : I'll just give you the link to the YouTube video. It's so tragic!
