

Prevedi na maternji!

[Scene: In front of the school during recess. I am sitting on a bench, Lazar walks up to me.]

Lazar:

Hey, Ognjen! What's up?

Me:

Hey, Lazar! Not much, just a bit tired. You?

Lazar:

I'm good. What did you do yesterday?

Me:

I watched a movie last night, pretty late... It's called Avatar.

Lazar:

Oh, Avatar! I haven't seen it yet. What's it about?

Me:

It's about a man who goes to an alien planet and becomes part of a tribe that protects their land from humans who want to destroy it.

Lazar:

Sounds cool! I like movies too, but especially sports ones.

Me:

What's your favorite?

Lazar:

Rocky! The one about the boxer who trains hard and never gives up—so awesome!

Me:

Yeah, I've seen that one too! The part where he runs up the stairs and lifts his arms?

Lazar:

Yep, that part! I get so pumped every time I see it.

Me:

We should watch a movie together sometime.

Lazar:

Sure! You pick next time.
