

Shakespeare's Globe. One of London's most _____ buildings, it has an interesting history. The original Globe Theatre was _____ in 1599 for William Shakespeare's Theatre Company. The theatre was based in Southwark, just _____ of the River Thames, and had performances _____ every day. But it didn't last long. On June 29th, 1613, during a performance of Henry VIII, a cannon shot went _____ and the theatre roof caught fire. The company and the _____ ran into the streets, but within an hour, the _____ had burned to the ground. The modern building, named Shakespeare's Globe, opened in 1997, and has been popular with audiences ever _____.

It's world famous for showing Shakespeare's plays, but today people are practicing for something a little _____. These singers are getting ready for the Globes concert for winter. Jadzia is a _____ here on work experience. For the past week, she's worked in different roles around the theatre, from managing the front _____ to guiding the audience to their seats. So today, with Concert of Winter, I'm an assistant at stage management. And I'm opening _____, making everyone goes on, scheduling everything, and making sure everyone's OK and _____. But yeah, it's loads of fun. Busy, but fun. She's worked on school _____ before, but nothing as big as this.

Going into a working theatre is _____ and it's a step from a school theatre to a big, live, open theatre. The concert for _____ takes place every year, bringing together people from the _____. All the singers live nearby and all ages are accepted. It's a wonderful _____ of Southwark talent and we have children as young as two and children as young as 96. For Jed Zia, Helping to put the _____ together completes the journey she started when she was a _____. Considering I used to come here when I was younger, so from primary school and then coming here to _____ here, it's great. It just gives me a view of what I used to see, like, when I was younger. And then coming and seeing behind scenes and how that _____, loads of appreciation for it. The performance may only happen once a year, But for _____ that takes part, working side by side as neighbours will be something they _____ for a long time.