

Put the facts in the correct column (some can go in two columns).

Someone made them in a big factory.

We eat them and then we can put the waste back into the land.

We buy them new.

We buy them fresh.

We buy them after someone has used them.

We reduce waste when we buy them.

The money goes to people who need help.

Big ships, lorries or aeroplanes transport them to different countries.

People who live near us get the money.

We could give them to a second-hand shop when we don't want them anymore.

second-hand shirts from a charity shop	local fruit and vegetables from a market	new jeans from a shopping centre
