Last week, we learned how clay cups are made. First, water is added to small dried pieces of clay. The dried pieces of clay slowly become a liquid. The liquid clay is then used to make clay cups. It is poured into a mould which is a cup shape. It is left to dry in the mould. When the clay has dried, it is lifted out of the mould. The clay is now in the shape of a cup. It is then put in a large oven. It is then heated to a very high temperature until it goes hard.
