

THE JOURNEY OF A BANANA INSIDE THE BODY

1

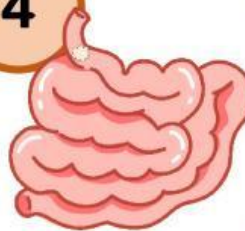

2

3

4

5

6

She goes to the toilet and the poop comes out through the anus.

The banana goes down her esophagus.

The rest of the body doesn't need to go to the large intestine and transform into poop.

Her stomach mixes the banana with gastric juices. The banana breaks into tiny pieces.

The tiny pieces go to the small intestine. The blood absorbs the nutrients of the banana.

She eats the banana and she chews it with her teeth and mixes it with her saliva.