The History of the Selfie Stick

Selfie sticks are very useful when you want to take a photo. But <sup>1</sup>do you know who invented them?

Two men say that they are the inventors of the selfie stick: the <sup>2</sup>first is Japanese and the second is from Canada. In the 1980s, Hiroshi Ueda worked <sup>3</sup>for the Minolta camera company. He liked going on holiday to Europe, and he always <sup>4</sup>takes a lot of photos.

One day, he gave his camera to a child, because he wanted a photo with his wife. But the child ran away with the camera. When Hiroshi went <sup>5</sup>back to Japan, he made a kind of selfie stick. He was very happy with it, but other people <sup>6</sup>didn't like it, and he couldn't sell it.

Twenty years later, Wayne Fromm <sup>7</sup>was on holiday in Europe with his daughter. He wanted a photo with <sup>8</sup>them, but they couldn't speak the language of the country. They waited to ask a person who <sup>9</sup>spoke English. After the holiday, Wayne made a kind of selfie stick called the Quik Pod. People liked it very much and he sold a lot of them.

Hiroshi's selfie stick was too early, so people <sup>10</sup>were interested in it. But Wayne's selfie stick was popular because he invented it at the right time.
